we face during our doily lives, such as folling down and breaking a bone, would not have resulted in injurier if the induidual was more physically fit. As are result, sports activities improve physical fitness, making the individual in presentable, and more resident to injury.
In conclusion, we must include sports activities in our daily, if not weekly, programs to live a longer and healthier life. With sports activities only, we can avoid chronic diseases and have a hoalthier and more fit body. the control of the second of t